CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,
An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her

SOOTHING SYRUP.
FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and Health to your Infants.

We have just put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth, of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know of an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medicinal virtues. We speak in this manner "because we do know" after ten years' experience and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the Syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS in

THOUSANDS OF CASES.
It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY in the world in ALL cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHOEA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE, yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE, to follow this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the name of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.
Principal Office, No. 13, Cedar Street, New York.
Price Only 25 Cents Per Bottle.

THE COMMONWEALTH.

Early Recollections.

BY L. T.

I came to the hut of my father by night, and found all deserted—in ruins. I cried aloud, oh! father, where are ye, and echo responded: Is that you Fat O'Leary?

I went a few weeks ago to Newport and Covington on a short visit. While rambling around old landmarks would come up in memory, but very few were to be found.

I looked in vain for any part of the "Esplanade" that used to be in front of Newport, along and over which, in boyish days, with jolly steps, I took my evening walks. How few, how very few, of the young companions of those happy days now live. The Esplanade, as called upon the map of the town, was all the land that lay between the lots and the Ohio river, extending from the Barracks up to York street. In front of my father's house, which is on the second lot above Columbia street, when I first remember the distance from the side-walk to the top of the river bank was from seventy to one hundred yards. Now there is barely room for a carriage to pass. One might have some curiosity to know what has caused the bank to cave in and pass away in so short a period on such a water-course as the Ohio. It may be the fogies who live in the town have not noticed the cause. If they have they have been much in their own light that they did not take means to stop it. Perhaps the dispute that existed so long between the proprietor of the town and the citizens as to the ownership of the ground between the lots and the river, was the main reason why nothing was done.

"The Esplanade to remain a common for the use of the town forever," as noted on the map, were the words that gave rise to the dispute.

One thing is certain, while they were disputing over the legal meaning of those words, the Cincinnatians were extending the front of their city by filling out into the river, and continued doing so until they have gained on their side about as much land as the people of Newport have lost from theirs.

At the time when I first remember the width of the ground from the side-walk to the edge of the bank, the low water-mark on the Cincinnati side was near about on a line with the front of the row of buildings above the mouth of Broadway, and ran about the center of the city's wharf to the foot of Main street.

There was but a narrow street between where the Spencer House is and the top of the bank.

An interesting question is presented on the facts suggested. By the ordinance of 1787 and compact with Virginia, the Kentucky State boundary extended to the low water-mark on the northwest side of the river. If that low water-mark was on a line with the center of the present Cincinnati wharf, has the filling out into the river by the Cincinnatians so as to make the low water-mark one hundred yards farther out from their city than it was when Kentucky was established as a State, changed the boundary of Kentucky or taken from her jurisdiction the made ground. A it will be perceived the question is one of vast importance as touching the jurisdiction of the two States—Kentucky and Ohio—as well as to the question of who owns the made land, and will some day have to be settled by the courts. Indeed, there is a suit now pending in the Circuit Court of the United States at Frankfort, which involves the question of right to part of the wharf.

An enterprising person some years ago laid a Kentucky land warrant on some fifty acres of the wharf, obtained a grant from the Commonwealth, and is prosecuting his claim to the wharf.

I express no opinion on the subject of right, as I am like some of the slippery politicians of the present day, on the fence, and don't know which side may make me the strongest arguments in the shape of the "petitions."

It won't commit me to say that Newport and Covington have been exceedingly remiss in duty to their citizens, or suffer them to be injured to the extent they have been, by the projection of the wharves on the Cincinnati side into the river.

We heard some speculations by some antediluvians as to how Sycamore trees came to be under the ground where the bridge pillar has been built on the Cincinnati side. They attribute the thing to some cause occurring before the flood.

The truth is, when the low water-mark extended to about the center of the present wharf, men who followed catching drift logs would float to the shore sycamore trees that had been laying on the banks of the river until they become dry enough to float, and as soon as they became well soaked they would sink to the bottom.

In that way the logs got to the places where found, and they were covered over by the filling out of dirt by those who wanted more land on the Cincinnati side.

If something is not done to put a stop to filling up the channel on the Ohio side, the whole fronts of Newport and Covington will be destroyed. It would take an immense sum of money to repair the mischief already done.

THE LOWEST BELL.—An exchange paper says there is a bell at Quincy, Mass., which can be heard seven miles, and which weighs 3,012 pounds, to which a Bell paper responds:

That's nothing; there is a bell in the Constitutional Union party which is being heard all over the Union, and does not weigh over 170 pounds.

THE FRANKFORT YEOMAN IN 1859.—In the Yeoman of May 24, 1859, we find the following editorial, which we take the liberty of re-producing entire, and of capitalizing one sentence:

Our friend of the Maysville Express propounded two questions to us—one as to the power of Congress to protect slavery in the Territories; the other as to its duty to do so if it should ever become necessary.

We endeavored in all frankness to answer the interrogatories of the Express, and are gratified at the information given us by our respected cotemporary that he "ought to be satisfied for the present." Now we submit to our friend that he ought not to be "satisfied" until he should at least have made an attempt to answer the only question we put to him. We are aware that it is much easier to ask questions than to answer them; but as we have only asked one to his two, we claim that we are entitled to an answer, especially as we so promptly responded to those put to us. We have no idea that our friend intended to "pre-empt" a response to our question, and must believe that it was but the result of an oversight. We therefore beg leave respectfully to call our friend's attention again to the interrogatory, and ask a response thereto. We deem it necessary in order to know his exact position upon the subject in its most material bearing. The interrogatory we refer to we now quote from our former article. It is in these words:

"WE SHOULD EVER HAVE A SOUTHERN TERRITORY—AS CUBA FOR EXAMPLE—WE SHOULD OPPOSE TO THE BITTER END ANY AND EVERY ATTEMPT ON THE PART OF CONGRESS TO REGULATE OR PROTECT SLAVERY THEREIN. Would not the Express do the same?" The question is as plain as we can make it. We now repeat it. Will the Express answer it? Comment is unnecessary!

Letter from Nicholas.

Editors of the Commonwealth:

CARLEISLE, August 28th, 1860.

Yesterday was a glorious day for the Union party in Kentucky. Early in the morning the unturfied, in solid phalanx, marched into town, expecting to see that Cravens demolish and render extinct the name of VAN WINKLE. It was the talk all over town that Cravens was some pumpkins, and Van Winkle nowhere. But what a fall was there, my countrymen! Mr. Van Winkle met Mr. Cravens; he refuted every argument advanced; he proved, conclusively, that John C. Breckinridge, if not a disunionist himself, was the nominee of a sectional, secession, disunion party. He exhibited the mooted question of protection in such a light that it was evident to every man that Breckinridge, while professing to be a protection man, was just the reverse. During the discussion round after round of applause greeted the brilliant displays of elocution and logic exhibited by Mr. Van Winkle, while scarce a sound was heard whilst Mr. Cravens indulged in his gross vituperation and vile slanders of John Bell, than whom a purer man and nobler statesman never lived. The triumph of Mr. Van Winkle was overwhelming.

NICHOLAS.

Geo. G. Vest.—The people of Franklin all remember the gentleman whose name heads this article. He is a native of this city, and several years ago removed to Missouri to pursue the practice of the law. We find, in the St. Louis Republican, the following letter from him, defining his position upon national politics, and we here give it as a matter of news to Mr. Vest's old friends:

BOONVILLE, Mo., August 24, 1860.

Mr. Editor: Communications have been received by me since the August election, from the Douglas and Breckinridge Committees in your city, and from different portions of this district, asking my position as elector in regard to the Presidential nominations.

Recognizing the right of the people to know the opinions of each elector upon this subject, and having no disposition to evade the issue, I take the opportunity of stating publicly that I regard Douglas and Johnson as the regular nominees of the Democratic party, and shall, therefore, give them my cheerful support. In common with all others who sincerely desire the success of our principles, I have regarded with anxious foreboding the increasing dissensions which attend this question, and whilst I am willing, as an elector, to abide any regular action of the party with a view of removing these dissensions, yet, in the absence of such action, I shall support the nominations made by the National Convention at Baltimore, in which sixteen out of the eighteen Missouri delegates remained as members.

The past record of Mr. Douglas is a sufficient guarantee that his administration of the Government, if elected, would be just to all sections of the Union alike, and having been nominated according to the practice and usage of the party, in my opinion he is entitled to its full support.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
G. G. VEST,
Democratic Elector 5th District Mo.

DEMOCRATS FLOCKING TO THE STANDARD OF THE UNION.—A Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, a high-toned Democratic paper, writes as follows:

Among Democrats there are not office-holders or expectants, there is a growing feeling in favor of Bell and Everett, and a hope that New York or Pennsylvania will withhold its electoral vote from Lincoln, and thus permit the South to send Bell to the House and Everett to the Senate. No one honestly claims the election of Douglas or Breckinridge by the people. The only question is, shall the Democrats conspire to elect Lincoln, with a view to spite each other.

The Memphis Bulletin says a good thing in the following:

"It is admitted by the first order of Democrats that they have no regular nominee for the Presidency, and that Democrats are at liberty to vote for whom they please. This general state of Democratic emancipation leaves the Democrats free to vote for Mr. Bell without offending against party discipline."

Gov. LETCHER FOR DOUGLAS.—A report having gone out that Gov. Letcher had declared for Breckinridge, we feel perfectly safe in stating that it is without foundation. Gov. Letcher is for Douglas.—Virginia Index.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is exempt from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatsoever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or mucous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which renders the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish

THE COMMONWEALTH.

FRANKFORT.

Published by A. G. HODGES & CO.
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1860.

For President,
JOHN BELL,
OF TENNESSEE.

For Vice President,
EDWARD EVERETT, OF MASSACHUSETTS.

The reasons urged upon Mr. Breckinridge why he should take the stump in Kentucky, and those which he himself gives for this unusual and undignified course, are such as must surprise and amuse all who read them. Evidently they are not the true reasons which have called for such a step, nor can men of intelligence and candor be deceived by the shallow pretence contained in them. The correspondence with respect to Mr. Breckinridge's addressing the people of Kentucky, speaks of "violent personal assaults" made upon him as making it almost imperative upon him "to publicly stamp them as false." What these personal assaults are we have been unable to discover. A great many papers come under our observation, papers representing all parties, and we have listened to not a few political speeches, and yet have to hear or read of the first personal assault upon the nominee of the Secession party. On the contrary all speak of him as a courteous, affable gentleman, an honorable, high-minded man, and as such beloved of all who know him; one, too, whose morals are unimpeachable. But one fault we have seen noticed, and that is that his ambition is without restraint and knows no bounds. To be sure there are doubts in the minds of many as to his great intellect—and by-the-way, his taking the stump will be the last way of dispelling these doubts, if his efforts thereon shall be like those he has lately made. The partisans of Mr. Breckinridge require too much for their leader. They hold him up as a demi-god—a head and shoulders above all men in intellect, honor and virtue. They require that at the mention of Breckinridge every knee should bow, and every tongue confess that he is The Great One of the nation.

Personal assaults are such attacks as have been made upon the character of Henry Clay, and almost every candidate for the Presidency heretofore. The charges which Buchanan and others of the Democratic party have brought against the immortal Clay, that he was a blackleg, a murderer, a violator of all the laws of morality and decency, a traitor to his country and bought with British gold—these are "violent personal assaults" and yet they could not call him from that privacy which became an aspirant to that high and dignified office of President of the United States. A man conscious of right and with just views of the dignity of his station, Clay took no notice of his calumnies and their slanders. And how is it with John Bell? He is charged with being an Abolitionist, the vilest of all vile, as well as the falsest of all false charges that can, in this section of our land, be made against him, and still this most "violent personal assault" has not called him to the stump. We suppose, however, that the assaults alluded to in the letter of Mr. Breckinridge's barbecue friends, is the charge of Mr. Crittenden's, to which they refer, "that as Presidential candidate of the National Democracy, he is the head of a Disunion party." Such a charge is made and proved against him, and yet he is not charged with being a disunionist himself; the Opposition speakers and papers, for the most part, declare that they do not believe that Mr. Breckinridge is that arch-traitor to his family, his State, and his country. A Southern Secession from the National Democracy has called him to the post which he now occupies, and his morbid ambition had bade him accept that which his principles would lead him to spurn. Is he not the head of a Disunion party? What can be said of Col. Elam's and of Rhett's letters? What of Yancey's speeches? What of the editorials of the Charleston Mercury, and a host of southern papers? And lastly, and most decidedly lastly, of Capt. Simms' and James B. Clay's assertions? It is an avowed Disunion party; disunion is the motto upon its banner, upheld by those whose rallying-cry is, Disunion, and it has placed at its head John C. Breckinridge.

Here is a bit of "inexorable logic" in connection with this subject. A prominent speaker from Covington—W. E. Arthur, Esq.—in a late speech extolled Mr. Lincoln highly above every other candidate for the Presidency, save his own party's pet, Breckinridge. He said he did not believe Mr. Lincoln to be an Abolitionist, but the party which had placed him at its head was an Abolition party, and therefore Mr. Lincoln must be held responsible for its opinions and its acts. This logic is "inexorable" when applied to the Republican party and its head, but is of no force—utterly inconclusive, and to be met with "indignant denial and firm denunciation" when applied to the Southern Secession party and its candidate! And to prove the fallacy of this argument, this "violent personal assault" upon him, Mr. Breckinridge has concluded to take the stump. A majority of upwards of 20,000 voters of the State of Kentucky, and a large minority of the voters of Missouri, North Carolina, and Alabama, have decided that this logic is "inexorable," and should Mr. Breckinridge, upon the stump, "acquit himself in a manner worthy of his exalted reputation as an orator, and of the position he occupies," using all the force of his eloquence, his honied expressions, and his most delusive sophisms, yet we believe this popular verdict will stand unmoved.

ASTOUNDING DEVELOPMENT.—BRECKINRIDGE PRAYS.—"John C. Breckinridge in his native, in his lineage, in his education and training, in his associations, in his hopes and his prayers, in his aspirations, in his head, heart, mind and soul, in every fibre of his nature is as fine and clear in his loyalty to the Constitution and the Union as idolatry to its object of worship or religion to God."—Address of Burnett, Powell and others to the people of Kentucky.

This is a magnificent specimen of spread-eagle, Hancock and Adams oratory. It is a grand flight, and is surpassed only by the school boys description of Rome, when he said "she rose, she towered, she tottered, she fell." And then, too, the important announcement is made that Breckinridge remembers the Union "in his prayers." This is, if true, most astounding information. It is a rare thing, in these degenerate days, to come across a praying politician. But now, when it is supposed that Democracy is more corrupt than it ever was, it is truly refreshing to learn that some of its leaders occasionally bend their knees in prayer. We know of no class of politicians more in need of constant, fervent prayer, than a follower of "old Buck," who indorses his administration and all of its villainies. "Pray without ceasing!"

ANOTHER DISUNION LETTER.—The Hon. W. W. Boyce, a member of Congress from South Carolina, publishes a letter which he begins with the following paragraph:

"If Lincoln be elected, I think the Southern States should withdraw from the Union; all, if not all, then as many as will; and if no other, South Carolina alone, in the prompt manner, and by the most direct means."

The Fayetteville Observer remarks that such pronouncements from the Breckinridge leaders are becoming very common. They put up Breckinridge, not with any hope of electing him, but to insure Lincoln's election if possible, and then break up the Union. We do not think the plan proposed an honorable one. It is "heads I win, tails you lose." An election is a farce if, the result ascertained, the defeated party is to make a revolution. If we go into it, the pledge to abide its results is none the less binding because it is an implied pledge. If the Union is to be dissolved, therefore, let it be done before the election, and save the country from the child's play of voting, and the South from loss of honor.

GOODIES.—We are indebted to our friend, J. C. HENDRICKS, who officiates on the corner of Market and St. Clair streets, for a bundle of creature comforts, composed of a bottle of whisky, seven years old—to make camphor of; and a bottle of old Bourbon, six years and twelve months old—for sickness; and a bottle of the juice of corn squeezed out, seven years gone by—for fun; and a bottle of something to give a fellow an appetite, cocked up in 1853. Not only these, but he sent us some whisky, cigars, tobacco, bed-clothes, a glass of soda, shooting crackers, Yancey speeches, Spaulding's glue, and a box of sardines—with a cork-screw. He has a few more left. All our particular friends who would like to try the virtue of these goodies, are invited to come to our sanctum, and invite us down to the Hendricks's aforesaid. Want of space compels us to close.

A STRIKING COINCIDENCE.—"It is enough to say slave property is ENTIRELY LOCAL." So says the Cincinnati Gazette, the leading Black Republican paper of Ohio. So says Wm. H. Seward, Abraham Lincoln, Charles Sumner, Joshua Giddings, and all the Republican leaders.

In 1850 John C. Breckinridge, when in the Kentucky Legislature, offered this resolution: Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the question of slavery in our Territories, being WHOLLY LOCAL and domestic, properly belongs alone to the people who inhabit them.

The Republican's slavery is "ENTIRELY local." Breckinridge in 1850 said it was "WHOLLY local."

"Tweedledum and tweedledee." If it is wholly local, then Breckinridge is inconsistent when he says Congress must intervene to protect.

The Breckinridge organs of Kentucky are doing all they can to prove JOHN BELL a Freesoiler.

The Cincinnati Gazette, Commercial, and other Black Republican organs in the north, are endeavoring to demonstrate to the northern people that John Bell is a southern slave-code candidate.

When both extremes concur in denouncing a public man, it is very certain that he is right.

Breckinridge's Black Republican allies in the North are endeavoring to explain the defeat of the Seceders in this State in August, upon the idea that it was "not in the hearts of Kentuckians to withhold the means of comfort, in his declining days, to one who had been so free of hand and open of purse." Isn't that rich? Can't somebody persuade the Courier, Statesman, and Yeoman, to publish that "ide-ah?"

The fact that Mr. BRECKINRIDGE has accepted the nomination, and hopes to merit the confidence, of an "avowedly disunion" Convention, "in which a New Yorker was called to order because he expressed opposition to a dissolution of the Union," cannot be too often or too strongly urged upon the Union-loving people of Kentucky. It is strictly true.

GREENWOOD SEMINARY.—The session of this excellent school commences to-day. Mrs. RUTAN is too well known in the community as a teacher to need commendation from us. For terms, &c., we refer our readers to her advertisement in another column of our paper.

THE BOY CAPTAIN OF 1812!

GRAND UNION RALLY!!

The Union Party of Franklin county will have a Grand Torch-light Procession and Illumination in the city of Frankfort, on the night of the 12th of this month, in honor of the election of

GENERAL LESLIE COMBS, who will, on that day, assume the duties of the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, which the people of Kentucky conferred upon him by a small majority of 22,978, which ought to have been 23,000!

Come two! come several!!! Distinguished speakers will be present. If you are coming why don't you come along?

A BANTER.—The Breckinridge Committee, composed of Burnett, Powell & Co., in their recent address announced that if there is any one who will "pray" for the Union "more willingly, more disinterestedly, more fervently" than John C. Breckinridge "his friends would place him at the feet of such a one to learn a lesson." We take it for granted that Lazarus W. Powell, Henry C. Burnett, and their associates, knew what they were about when they made this proposition. They certainly are fully advised as to Breckinridge's ability in the praying line. He, as well as Powell and Burnett, &c., must all be gifted in that way since they so bring their consciences to support James Buchanan's administration.

We are disposed to render the Breckinridge Committee all the aid in our power in this matter, and we therefore announce our willingness to correspond with any person who may be disposed to try the experiment of having John C. Breckinridge at his feet "to learn a lesson." We shall write to Yancey first.

By the aid of improved lightning and modern Democracy, we are enabled to lay before our readers a telegraphic dispatch which will be telegraphed all over the Union the night of the 5th of this month. It is as follows:

LEXINGTON, Sept. 5, 1860.

Breckinridge made his great speech here to-day. It was an entire success. He declared himself for the Union. He grouped together and refuted a great many slanders. The sentiment of the State is entirely changed. He will carry Kentucky by 84,000 votes. Combs is going to resign. Great explosion of fire-crackers and devouring of raw mutton. Bet your pile on Kentucky. Breckinridge has spoken. No more at present.

Superintendent Gill, of the Louisville, Frankfort, and Lexington Railroad, in a spirit of liberality which will be properly appreciated, has agreed to transport stock and other articles to be exhibited at the Fair of the Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical Association at Lexington, by paying the usual fare, which will be returned upon the production of the certificate of the Secretary of the Association that they were exhibited at the Fair.

If the Breckinridge party had voters commensurate with its ambition, it would be a great party. If it had as much sense as it has impudence, it would be a smart party. But as it is, it is a very small party, composed of small men, who, by the aid of very small means, will poll a very small vote in November.

The disunionists call the Union men "Yancey-fearers." That is funny, but not quite correct. The Breckinridge papers of this State seem to be suffering under the delusion that because the Union men fear disunion, they are therefore afraid of the disunionists.

When a candidate is reduced to such supporters as Yancey, and when a party is reduced to the extremity of printing Yancey's disunion speech as a campaign document, that candidate and that party are proper objects of charity and forbearance.

UNION SEMINARY.—We are pleased to announce that this new school for young ladies commences to-day under the most flattering auspices. From the character and attainments of its teachers, it is bound to be a complete success.

Mr. Breckinridge will make five or six speeches in Kentucky, and then he will visit other States. We did not get this from the Yancey Central Committee, but it may be relied on.

A YANCEYISM.—Yancey, in his "great speech" at Memphis, exhibited himself as follows:

A voice—Go on, Yancey. Mr. Yancey—Be patient—I require your patience, for I have not come here to make a display of oratory before you, but to speak calmly, deliberately, and truthfully on these matters. I know where I stand—I know the hostile criticism to which I shall be subjected—I know that if I can be caught tripping how some would rejoice; but, so help me God, if any man bites the dust, it will be some other man than Yancey. [Great applause.]

Doesn't that sound like Yancey?

FINE WRITING.—The following rich specimen of Breckinridge Belle-travette we clip from the Lexington Statesman:

There is nothing but absurdity, mendacious malignity and despicable hypocrisy in the disunion howl cunningly gotten up by the dough-faced submissionists, free-soil squatters, and unprincipled adventurers, who now stand allied in one mongrel opposition to Democracy.

Good Gwacious!

THE JOHNSONS IN ARKANSAS.—The Johnson party in Arkansas met with a complete rout in the last election in that State. R. H. Johnson was the Johnson candidate for Governor, and all the Johnsons voted for him. Men of other names—heretofore supposed to be in a hopeless minority in that State—voted against Johnson, and defeated him 4,000 votes. Rather bad for the Johnses.

NEW FASHIONED SHOOTING IRONS.—We are requested by GEN. M. D. WEST, Q. M. G., to state that he has some five and six shooters, an improvement on Colt's revolvers, which he, invites gentlemen to call and examine, at his office. They are sent to him for sale, and will be sold at lower prices than such articles are usually valued at. Those in want of such articles are invited to call and buy. Our armory is already amply supplied, and our cannon battery will be erected, and guns unlimbered, whenever occasion requires.

"HUMANITY TO THE SLAVE, NOT LESS THAN JUSTICE TO THE MASTER, RECOMMENDS THE POLICY OF EXTENSION AND DIFFUSION INTO ANY NEW TERRITORY. ADAPTED TO HIS CONDITION, AND THE REASONS ARE TOO OBVIOUS TO BE MISUNDERSTOOD BY THE DULLEST INTELECT."—JOHN BELL, 1850.

"I AM CONNECTED WITH NO PARTY THAT HAS FOR ITS OBJECT THE EXTENSION OF SLAVERY. * * * THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IS NOT A PRO-SLAVERY PARTY."—JNO. C. BRECKINRIDGE, 1856.

We call attention to the advertisement of GEN. A. G. GAMMACK, in another column. We have examined the furniture, and can vouch for its excellence. It is custom-made, and is warranted by the General. Attend the sale.

The County Judge of Scott has appointed Sam. Thompson, Clerk of the County Court, in place of Lucien B. Dickerson, deceased.

DOUGLAS IN VIRGINIA.—The Valley Democrat, August 3d, contains the names of 276 Democrats of Rockingham county, pledged to Douglas.

"This man Yancey" says that those who say he is a disunionist are liars! Bully for Yancey.

There will be a Union mass meeting at the Salvia Fair Grounds, in Mercer county, on Wednesday, September 19th. Messrs. Crittenden, Combs, Garrett Davis, Joshua F. Bell, Hanson, Thompson, Harlan, Helm, and others are expected to be present. This will be a basket meeting, and the Mercer people extend a cordial invitation to all to come and partake. Special arrangements have been made for the accommodation of the ladies.

RATS.—A poet thus discourses of the old Pub. Fun: Rats! rats! rats! In a White Old House is a gray old rat, Flitting ever, and blind as a bat; Growing and grubbing over his cheese, Easy to huff and hard to please; Managing, managing, day and night, Everything wrong and nothing right! Fussy, frothy, foolish and fat; Know ye the name of the Gray Old Rat?

A GOOD STORY SPOILED.—A cynical individual, on reading a pathetic story in one of the papers lately, noted it in his memorandum book as follows: Somebody whistled. Teacher calls up big boy on suspicion. Big boy comes up and holds out his hand, sullen and savage. Noble little boy comes manfully forward, and says, "I'm the boy who whistled, sir," at the same time extending his hand. Teacher smolders down, and lets 'em both off. (Mem.—Noble little boy thought teacher would not lick him if he told the truth, but knew big boy would lick him if he did not.)

When you go to Louisville remember the United States Hotel. Don't think of stopping anywhere else.

DIED.

DAUGHTERS' COLLEGE,

HARRDSBURG, KY.

We have determined to reorganize our School for Young Ladies, and hereafter to concentrate our labors within the limits of a few select classes. This we feel impelled to do for several reasons: 1. We cannot, without the erection of a mammoth establishment, accommodate the annually increasing patronage of the school. This we feel unwilling, at present, to undertake. 2. We desire to make our course of study more varied, extensive, and thorough; to devote more attention to the healthy development of mind and heart, and the formation of character. 3. We desire to relieve ourselves of the distracting annoyances of a multitude, and at the same time to surround our students with the more general influence of home-life. We have some regard, also, to the enlightened opinions of an advancing age, which call for a higher, purer, and more cultivating regime for our daughters. 4. We are not satisfied merely to OVERSEE our school; we wish to bring each pupil at all times under our own immediate eye and personal influence. We wish to render our own labor more productive, by bringing our experience and skill to bear directly upon every member of our class. 5. In fine, though large public schools have their advantages, yet we feel, as educators and as Christians, that it would be better for humanity, and more acceptable to God, to educate well, than to neutralize our influence by attempting to educate many.

We propose, therefore, to limit our classes after the present term, which expired in June, to one half the present number. While this is a great sacrifice, in the present view, we hope that the increased good we may effect may secure for us a greater reward in the gratitude of our pupils and in the approbation that comes from God.

We particularly request that all applications for admission be made early; session commences September 17th.

For particulars address C. E. & JNO. AUG. WILLIAMS, Aug. 22, 1860-wtwtw. Harrodsburg, Ky.

PURE CATAWBA BRANDY.

THE merit of really pure BRANDY, for medicinal use, has long been felt, and the opportunity to procure such an article must be regarded as a public good. LYON'S PURE CATAWBA BRANDY excels the choicest imported Brandy in purity and richness of flavor; and, wherever it has been introduced, it has invariably met the most unqualified favor and extensive sale. The following celebrated chemists have analyzed it, and certify to its perfect purity: Dr. A. A. Hays, Dr. Nichols and Prof. Jackson, of Boston; Dr. Jas. B. Childers, N. Y.; Dr. Hiram Cox, Chemical Inspector of Ohio, Cincinnati; and other Chemists, North and South. Special attention of Physicians called to the article. For sale by W. H. AYER, SOLE AGENT, August 13, 1860-3m. Frankfort, Ky.

COMMITTED TO JAIL.

ON the 4th inst., as a runaway slave, a negro man calling himself JAMES MONROE. When arrested he had in his possession a pass dated December 2d, 1858, in Franklin County, State of Kentucky, which he claims was given to him by Wm. Snodgrass, of Danville, Ky., who he says holds his free papers. He is a dark man, of copper color, aged about 28 years; five feet two inches high; weighs about one hundred and fifty pounds; stout built; has a full black eye; a small scar on his forehead, and several on his back, which have the appearance of whip marks. He has a copper colored, light colored coat and pantaloons, blue cloth cap, and shoes very much worn. The owner of said negro man is hereby notified to come forward, prove property, and pay charges, or he will be dealt with according to law. H. B. MILLER, J. F. C. Frankfort Aug. 15, 1860-tf.

NOTICE TO TRESPASSERS.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and from its medicinal steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhoea, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial. CAUTION—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, South America, and Germany.

SOMETHING NEW!

Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Photographs, and Ivorytypes.

H. L. GOODWIN,

TAKE pleasure in informing the public that he has returned to Frankfort, and taken the gallery of C. A. Clarke, adjoining the Telegraph office, and that he would be pleased to wait on those wishing perfect Likenesses of themselves or friends. He is confident he will be able to please the most fastidious in any kind of picture they may desire, from a life-size portrait to the smallest Daguerreotype or Ambrotype. Also, Daguerreotypes of deceased persons, enlarged to the size of Life and Colored in Oil, and satisfaction given.
I am also prepared to make those gems of Photography, the Daguerreotype, which is truly the most durable small picture yet produced.
The Ivorytype, (made only at this Gallery), is acknowledged by all to be the most beautiful style of Photographic pictures ever presented to the public. In brilliancy of tone and color, delicacy of finish, correctness of likeness, and durability, it is far superior to the best miniature on Ivory.

THE VESPER GAS.

OR AIR LIGHT.

The Cheapest, most Brilliant, and most Convenient Artificial Light in the World!
THE Vesper Gas Light has won for itself a reputation for elegance, economy, safety, and simplicity far beyond any other artificial light. The Vesper Gas flame and fixtures precisely resemble in form those of coal gas; but in brilliancy and purity of light it possesses a decided advantage over even Louisville coal gas. It requires no chimney; there is no need of daily trimming of wick; and the construction of the fixture is so simple that it is not liable to get out of order, and a child can manage it readily. The gas burned in the Vesper fixtures is generated from pure coal oil, without any admixture of alcohol or other foreign ingredient. It is entirely free from odor while burning, as, by a simple contrivance, the vapor of the oil is mixed with the atmosphere, producing perfect combustion and a most intense light. The light has been pronounced, by those who have had it in constant use for months, as most pleasant to the eye while reading or sewing, there being no flicker or unsteadiness in the flame. The Vesper Gas Light is portable, and can be used in town or country—in fact, wherever artificial light is required. The fixtures themselves are adapted in styles to suit all tastes, from the plain single-light burner to the most costly chandelier. Each chandelier is perfect in itself; there is no outlay to be made for service pipes. The gas is generated in the burner, and all fixtures, from the cheap single-light burner to the expensive chandelier, are miniature gas-works in themselves. They are sold at prices which do not exceed the cost of the ordinary gas fixture of similar style and ornamentation. A price list will be sent to any address on application.
MERCHANTS
Visiting Louisville should not fail to procure the Vesper Gas Fixtures for their stores.
Churches, Hotels, Public Halls, and Private Residences.
Throughout the State can now be fitted up with these elegant and convenient chandeliers, and other beautiful gas fixtures, which add so much to the appearance of such places, and to the comfort of the home circle, and which heretofore could be used only in those favored districts embraced within the coal-gas limits of large cities.
The limited space of an advertisement precludes the insertion here of the numerous testimonials of approval we have received from all quarters. Suffice it to say, scientific men and others who have examined and thoroughly tested the merits of the Vesper Gas Light, pronounce it the best and cheapest artificial light now known.
The proprietor respectfully requests responsible merchants in every town and county in the State to correspond with him, believing they will find it to their interest to aid him in introducing this unequalled light to their customers.
Vesper Fixtures and Coal Oil prepared expressly for this market kept constantly on hand, and for sale wholesale and retail.

FRANKFORT AGENCY

OF THE
New York Life Insurance Company.

A meeting of the Local Directors of the New York Life Insurance Company, held in the city of Frankfort, Ky., December 4th, 1859, the following was unanimously adopted:
"The undersigned, President and Directors of the Company, have examined the report and exhibit of the New York Life Insurance Company for the half year ending July 1st, 1858, and being satisfied with its prosperous condition, cordially recommend it to the encouragement and support of the community.
The New York Life Insurance Company has been in existence fourteen years, its capital has attained the sum of $1,500,000.
Invested in State stocks, bonds and mortgages on real estate.
We think it a most safe and profitable mode of investing money. The profits accrue to the benefit of the insured, and have averaged not less than 30 per cent. per annum on the premium paid.
Besides these investments in stock, &c., the law of New York requires as additional security, that $100,000 shall be deposited with the State Comptroller, to meet any lawful demands which the Company may fail to pay.
We invite attention to the nature, objects, and advantages of Life Insurance, as set forth by this Institution.
It will be seen by the above statement that this Company is in a flourishing condition. Those desirous of information in regard to the subject of Life Insurance, would do well to call on the Local Agent of the above Company, who will give them any information that may be desired, or for reference apply to either member of the Local Board, all of whom are insured in this office.
